MAYOR'S MESSAGE

MAYOR MARESA MANZIONE

Tooele City's Water Reclamation Facility (WRF) is a critical piece of our community's infrastructure, ensuring that wastewater is treated safely and effectively to protect public health and the environment. Like many aging facilities, it requires ongoing attention, maintenance, and periodic upgrades to continue operating at a high level.

Recently, the facility experienced a few operational challenges caused by unexpected influxes of waste entering the system. These events temporarily affected some operating conditions, but I am grateful to our WRF staff for their quick response and professionalism in restoring normal operations without any interruption to service.

To help better manage similar situations in the future, the City has ordered additional ditch aerators. These tools will provide staff with another layer of support when dealing with sudden changes in wastewater conditions.

In addition to these immediate operational improvements, Tooele City is preparing to issue an approximately $11 million bond to fund significant upgrades at the Water Reclamation Facility. This investment has been part of our long-term planning for several years and reflects the City's commitment to maintaining reliable infrastructure. A portion of the project costs will be offset by impact fees collected from new development, and the current sewer rates already include the payment for this bond.

The WRF was built approximately 25 years ago and was considered state-of-the-art at the time. As with any facility of this age, systems and equipment require modernization and replacement over time. The facility now has several areas where more substantial upgrades are necessary to ensure it remains efficient and capable of meeting current and future demand.

One of the key improvements included in the bond is the modernization of the facility's greenhouses with solar drying panels. These panels will improve the efficiency of the solids handling process by allowing material to be dried more quickly and effectively. The bond will also support upgrades to the facility's ultraviolet (UV) treatment system, along with other necessary improvements.

While this investment will address important needs, it does not cover all future upgrades that will eventually be required. Planning for the long-term sustainability of the WRF will continue to be a priority for the City.

Maintaining and improving our water reclamation infrastructure is not always the most visible work we do, but it is essential to the health and safety of Tooele City. Our goal is to make these investments responsibly so the facility can continue serving our community for decades to come.

THE COUNCIL'S CORNER

BY COUNCILMEMBER JON GOSSETT

Fall has arrived in Tooele, and it's one of my favorite times of the year in our community. The cooler evenings, changing leaves, and activities around town remind us what makes Tooele such a great place to call home. One tradition I especially look forward to is our Downtown Trick-or-Treat. Seeing Main Street filled with kids in costumes, families visiting local businesses, and neighbors enjoying our historic downtown is the kind of small-town spirit I hope we never lose as Tooele City continues to grow.

There is also a lot of important work happening throughout our City. We continue investing in our infrastructure and the services residents depend on every day. I'm especially grateful for our police officers, firefighters, public works crews, parks and recreation employees, and all those who work behind the scenes to keep Tooele safe, welcoming, and moving forward.

Before we know it, Thanksgiving and Christmas will be here. As we head into the holidays, I hope we'll take a little extra time to support local businesses, check in on a neighbor, help someone who may be struggling, and enjoy the traditions that bring us together.

Tooele City is growing and changing, but I believe we can embrace our future without losing the character, traditions, and sense of community that make our City special. I'm proud to call Tooele home and grateful for the opportunity to represent you on the Tooele City Council.

~ Jon

Growing a Water-Wise Tooele

Tooele City is creating a new West Meadows Conservation and Demonstration Garden to showcase beautiful landscaping options that thrive in our local climate while using less water.

Through the Utah Pollinator Habitat Program, the Tooele City Public Works Department received grant funding from the Utah Department of Agriculture and Food to develop the garden on City property near the water tank at approximately 880 South 900 West. Planting is already underway, with more than 1,600 plants going into the garden. Trees and additional improvements will be added as the project continues.

The garden will feature a variety of drought-tolerant plants, trees, and landscaping, giving residents an opportunity to see water-wise options that can be incorporated into their own yards and landscapes. The project will also transform the area around the City's water tank into an attractive community resource and educational space.

Tooele City is grateful for the grant funding that is making this project possible and looks forward to watching the garden grow into a lasting resource for our community.
